"BLUE SUNDAY" IN ALEXANDRIA

Police Court This Morning Dismisses Accused in Squads

ONLY TWO ARE FINED

Dock Embraced Street Cleaners, Removers of Night Soil, Florists Furnishing Flowers for Funerals Etc.

The Police Court room and the approaches thereto were densely packed his morning with parties cited to appear to answer the charges of conducting business on Sunday, together with witnesses. The bulk of the crowd, however, were spectators, most of whom were doubtless disappointed, as the proceedings were tame and nothing serious nor ridiculous occurred to repay the curiosity which caused the audience to gather. The cases were called in squads. Newspaper men, and agents, and milk dealers, ice manufacturers, manager of the acid plant, telegraph and telephones companies, bread bakeries, keepers of lunch houses, agents of railroads, and steamboats, jitney busses, operators of laundries, etc., were dismissed, the court ruling that their occupations were neceessary. Baseball players, where no entrance fees were charged, were also dismissed.

Two proprietors of ice cream saloons,J. Reece Caton and Mrs. Burda, who acknowledged that they kept their places of business open while aware of the law, were fined $5 each. The woman paid the fine, but the man took an appeal to the Corporation Court.

Of course, the parties who were dismissed will not be interfered with again, as their occupations were declared essential in this day and generation.

It is a matter of pride among all law-observing people of the city that so few persons attempted to defy the law, there having been a general closing down of business after midnight Saturday.

There was one case in which a crtizen was charged with allowing his automobile to go out in charge of a chauffeur, the machine having been operated by a domestic in the employ of the owner who was performing some family service. He was dismissed, of course.

The enforcement of the Sunday laws is attempted about once in a decade. Normal conditions will prevail after the proceedings of today.

Despite an honest effort on the part of the people of Alexandria generally to live up to the Sunday law which was enforced for the first time in a dozen years yesterday the police summoned scores of people to appear in police court this morning for alleged violations of the law. In many cases no attempt was made to secure evidence of the violation of the law, the mere fact that the places of business were open being sufficient for the police to summons the proprietors to court. No inquiry was made as to the nature of the business that was being conducted, or whether or not it was necessary in accordance with the provisions of the law. It was evidently the intention of the police to make their enforcement proceedings so drastic as to bring ridicule upon the whole subject and thus work in hand with the people who declare they will have the law repealed by enforcing it.

Among the first people who were notified to appear in court this morning were the three representatives of the Washington newspapers who were summoned when they appeared at police headquarters early yesterday morning to find out what had happened during the night. There was no evidence to show that they were working, but the mere inquiries if there was anything doing was enough for the police and their names were entered on the blotters. Previous to this a dozen or so milkmen, ice dealers and news dealers had been told to be on hand this morning. It was not until ten o'clock that the police really became active, and the time of Sergeant Wilkinso was taken up in entering the cases upon the blotter. A dozen policemen were scouring the city for violaters and they brought in names if they were unable to secure evidence.

Business men over the city were, as a rule, careful to see that the provisions of the law were carried out, and there were few open violations of the law. Milk dealers and ice dealers filled their orders as usual but they contended that the law would hold them blameless, as they declare it has been determined time after time that the delivery of milk and ice on the Sabbath was necessary labor. News dealers were likewise confident that their work was necessary in view of the many decisions of the courts holding that the publication and delivery of newspapers on Sunday were necessary. Garages remained open, but the men employed there were given a day off. Owners of cars had to get their own cars out, clean them and make such adjustments as were necessary. Gasoline was only sold when it was shown that the buyer was compelled to purchase it for a pourney of "necessity." Automobiles were hired only for trips to the railway station, hospital or some simlar place.

All the drug stores were closed and the proprietors refused to sell any article except medicine. The soda fountains and cigar cases were closed tight and patent medicines, toilet articles, etc., were taboed. The drug stores experienced their first Sunday hours, being closed for the entire day except from 9 to 11 in the morning, 2 to 3 in the afternoon and 7 to 8 at night.

All of the cigar stores, barber shops, and shoe shining establishments were closed. The restaurants and lunch rooms remained open, but only for the serving of meals. At one restaurant the proprietors refused to sell a plate of ice cream unless a meal was ordered and the ice cream served as desert.

LID DOWN IN VIRGINIA

Ouster Law Goes Into Effect And Old Blue Statutes Are Enforced

Richmond, Va., June 19—The blue laws, which have been upon the statute books of Virginia for years and ignored, were enforced yesterday more stringently than at any time since their adoption. This was due to the "ouster" law, passed by the General Assembly in March, going into effect. This law causes the removal of any officer who fails to do his duty. By common consent soda water dispensers closed their places of business, but newsstand and newsboys carried on their business, the latter, however, without crying their wares.

One man in every line of business, reporter, pressman, street car motorman and conductor, one jitney driver etc., were arrested and will be given hearings tomorrow. This proceeding was decided upon so as to prevent the wholesale tying up of business as heretofore allowed to operate on Sunday.

All cases will be carried through to the Supreme Court for an early decision in event fines are imposed.

Drivers of jitneys did not operate cars as such, but many of them turned their machine into "for hire" which enabled them to evade the law.

There was no disturbance over the enforcement of the blue laws, although many citizens went without their accustomed drink, cigars and tobacco, because they overlooked making purchases yesterday.

DYING FATHER RAISES CAR.

Falls Dead Aiding Rescuers to Remove Baby From Under Auto.

Pittsburgh, June 19.—Councilman Joseph Leland, of Butler, met death yesterday evening, when his automobile skidded near Bakerstown, this county, and rolled down the side of a rocky gully. With his two young sons and John Couthworth, a brother-in-law, he was riding home from Tarentum. Southworth and Thomas Leland, aged five, were thrown clear of the car.

Although pinned face downward under the machine and mortally hurt, Leland, seeing "Bud," his 2 year old son, beside him, mustered all his strength and raised the machine until the child hade been rescued by Southworth. Then he fell back dead.

Both children, though severely hurt are expected to recover. The automobile was smashed.

AMERICANS FLEEING

Carranza Authorities Would Not Allow Train Service to Americans Who Wanted to Leave City

Washington, June 19—Backed up by the 100,000 National Guardsmen summoned to the colors by President Wilson and by the 50,000 regular army forces now in the field, the United States Government today sent its reply to General Carranza's demand for an immediate withdrawal of the Pershing expedition from Mexico. The reply contains a flot refusal.

Washington, June 19.—Congress will be asked today to make the entire national guard organization of the United States, called to the colors yesterday by President Wilson, available for service in Mexico.

This was one of the steps taken today by the War Department following close on the heels of the calling out of practically all the national guard.

Feverish activity is evident on all sides at the War Department.

El Paso, Tex., June 19—Confidential advices have been received here that First Chief Carranza had sent an ultimatum to President Wilson early yesterday morning advising him that if American troops were not removed from Mexico within seven days a state of war would be considered as exciting between the United States and Mexico, and that the troops of the de facto government at the end of seven days would treat all armed Americans in Mexico as invaders.

Nogales, Ariz., June 19—Four Mexican soldiers and two citizens were killed at Mazatlan, Sinaloa, yesterday by United States marines, according to messages received in Nogales.

The message was signed by Gen. Mesta, commanding Mazatlan. It stated that a luncr loaded with marines, who were attempting to land at Mazatlan, had opened fire on the Mexicans who lined the wharf.

The Mexicans returned the fire, killing and wounding a number of the Americans.

It also reported two United States officers were captured and are held prisoners.

Vera Cruz, June 19—Conditions are perfectly quiet in Vera Cruz. Col. Gonzalo de la Mata, the commanding officer here, has conserved order and has permitted no manifestations by his soldiers. Preparations have been made to resist any attempt by American forces to land, and it is understood that such attempt would be met with opposition. An excellent spirit prevails among the Mexican troops who apparently are well disciplined.

Nogales, Ariz., June 19—All telephone and telegraph wires leading from the American to the Mexican side of the border have been cut in Sonora. Americans are being brought to the border in automobiles from Nacozari, where an anti-American demonstration occurred yesterday. Carranza authorities previously had refused a train for the refugees.

Washington, June 19—President Wilson yesterday afternoon issued a call to National Guard organizations of every State in the Union for service on the Mexican border.

The President's action followed closely the receipt here of un-official reports that Gen. Carranza had dispatched an ultimatum to the United States demanding that the American forces be withdrawn from Mexico soil within seven days, and stating that in the event of their not being recalled Mexico would consider a state of war between the two countries to exist.

The 2,300 officers and men of the National Guards of the District of Columbia called out by President Wilson will camp at Radio, Va.,

Within a week they expect to be on their way to Mexico.

The call of the president on the militia of the nation for service on the Mexican border has caused great enthusiasm.

The men began mobilizing today at Forty Myer. Those in the government service will be given indeterminate leave of absence. It is expected that private concerns will grant the same sort of leave to their Guardsmen employes.

By nightfall hundreds of tents will be pitched on the fields lying just outside the fort at the foot of Radio, the government wireless station, and the men will have begun the service which some of them believe will eventually lead to the capital of Mexico.

Richmond, Va., June 19—Virginia has 3,600 officers and men completely equipped and ready for immediate service. Gov. H. C. Stuart made this statement last night, pledging the Old Dominion to its full duty in the Mexican crisis.

"We are ready to move at any time" declared the governor.

NEW CHURCH PLATFORM

Episcopal Church in Baltimore Adopts Democratic Government

A new platform and a working basis were adopted yesterday morning by members of the Protestant Epircopal Church of the Revelation in Baltimore at a congregational meeting held immediately following the morning service. Rev. Richard W. Hogue, minister-in-charge of the church, presided and clearly out lined his idea and principles for the rule and guide of the church which he is serving.

"The meeting was an enthusiastic one," said Rev. Mr. Hogue, in the afternoon, and we think we have adopted a platform that will meet with the approval of all who believe in a liberal religion and in the democratic government of the church." By the rules laid down at the service, the business and social affairs of the church do not remain entirely in the hands of the vestrymen, but all matters pertaining to the parish and to the church interests will be reported to the congregation periodically so as to keep them thoroughly enlightened on the doings of the church.

The platform adopted was as follows:

"A liberal religion, community serving church freedom of the pulpit, a democratic government by the congregation and not by the vestry of a close corporation, no rented pews and the utter freedom of the congregation to a knowledge of all the church doings."

ALLIES ENTHUSED

Repulse of Germans at Verdun and Russian Drives Bring Confidence

British Headquarters in France, June 19—The contrast of the news today of Russian successes to the news last year of Russian reverses is remarked on all sides as proof of the turn in the tide in the third year, as Kitchener predicted, and a reassurance that the cooperation of the allies on all fronts will end the war, not by the blockade and exhaustion of Germany alone, but by a decisive military victory.

Universally considered as committing herself to the Verdun operation, Germany dealt her own death blow So far as the correspondent can learn Germany still maintains enormous forces against this front and continue to hold the eastern front with a thin line. It was known for long that the Russian front gave a better opportunity for an offensive than the heavily held and fortified western front, but it was not realized how magnificently Russia could come back.

This and the heroic stubbornness of the French at Verdun and the increasing strength of the British army have resulted in the c heeriest feeling the length of the British trenches since the war began. No compromise of peace is heard. Only opinion is heard when the war will end. It depends whether the Germans will fight through the third bloody summer before coming to terms.

GERMANS ARE FORCED BACK

New Attack Against French at Verdun Proves Failure

RENEWED ACTIVITY

Berlin Asserts Allies' Assaults Broke Down, and That French Were Driven From Trenches

London, June 19—Fresh attempts by the Germans against the French positions northeast and northwest of Verdun met with no success, says the French war office, and the Germans suffered heavy casualties in their attacks—delivered against Le Mort Homme and Thiaumont sectors.

Again there has been considerable activity in the Argonne forest and in the Vosges mountains, where the French in the former sector used their long-range artillery effectively against German positions, and in the latter sector put down a surprise infantry attack southwest of Carspach.

Paris, June 19—Several attacks by the Germans on the new French positions in the Dead Man Hill region northwest of Verdun, were repulsed the French maintaining their recent gains, the war office announced yesterday afternoon. The Germans suffered heavy losses, as they did also in futile attacks on French trenches in the Thiaumont sector to the east of the Meuse.

Berlin, June 19—The war office announces that on the western front a French attack in Thiaumont wood, north of Verdun, broke down. The French were driven during the night from a s mall first line trench which they had seized.

The statement says:

"On the right bank of the river a French attack on German positions in Thiaumont wood, preceded by artillery fire lasting several hours, broke, down. A small first line trench taken by the enemy was cleared during the night.

"Air attacks against military works at Bar le Duc were again repeated. A French biplane was brought down near Lassigny by our antiair craft guns and smashed to pieces. In the region of Bezange la Grande, south of Chateau Salins, Lieut. Wintgens shot down his sixth and Lieut. Hoenderf his fifth aeroplane. The occupants of one machine were killed."

DIED FROM HIS INJURIES

As a result of the injuries he received last Friday, when he was run over by a switch engine in the Southern Railway freight yards, where he had employment as a car repairer, O. Christian Bredup, a native of Norway, died yesterday at noon at the Alexandria Hospital, he had been taken for treatment after the accident. The deceased was 72 years old and unmarried, and is survived by two sisters, residing in Milwaukee, Ill., ond one nephew, whose residence is in Richmond, Va., to which city the body will probably be shipped for burial from Demaine's undertaking establishment.

FINED TWENTY DOLLARS.

A young man living in the northern part of the city was arrested yesterday on the charge of carrying concealed weapons. A pistol nearly a foot long was found in his possession. The accused was brought before the Police Court this morning and fined $20.

The play will be repeated on June 27, at thee Young People's Building.

DEATH OF VON MOLTKE

Former Chief of German Staff Victim of Apoplexy

Amsterdam, June 19—Lieut. Gen. Count Helmuth von Moltke, chief of the supplementary general staff of the army, died of heart apoplexy yesterday afternoon during a service of mourning in the reichstag for the late Field Marshal von der Goltz, says a Berlin telegram tonight.

Lieut. Gen. Count von Moltke was a nephew of the late Field Marshal von Moltke, the great strategist, who directed the victorious movements of the German armies when they achieved their memorable triumph in the Franco-Prussian war of 1870. At the time of his uncle's death in 1891 he was a major, but in 1899 he was made a general, three years later a lieutenant general and in 1902 chief of the general staff, in which last named office he has been credited with having perfected the splendid organization of the German army.

During the fall of 1914, announcements of Gen. von Moltke's illness were followed by reports that he had been superseded as chief of the general staff. These, however, proved unfounded, but in December of that year he retired from the post, his failing health, it was said, preventing his return to the front. He was succeeded by the present head of the general staff, Gen. von Falkenhayn. In the January following he was appointed chief of the supplementary general staff.

Mrs. C. F. Glaenzer has returned to her home in Irvington, Va., after a visit to Miss Effie Clapdore in this city.

DISORDERLY CONDUCT.

Some excitement was caused on Lee street, south of Wilkes yesterday afternoon. A young man, who was drunk, had been carried home once, but he soon left the house, when he was taken in charge by Sergeant Scott, who was conducting him back to his home, when the young man turned on the officer and struck him. He also tore the sergeant's clothing. The youngster was then arrested and brought before the Police Court this morning. He was fined $10 and warned that if brought to the bar again the penalty would be materially increased.

During the progress of the case an old resident of the neighborhood testified that people living in that section were rendrede miserable by the assembling of noisy, drunken and vulgar persons on Sundays. Those who seated themselves in front of their doors to enjoy the cool of the evening had to listen to disgusting language and witness disorderly conduct. He appealed to the police to bring about more quiet conditions.

The court admonished those present that should other cases be reported the offenders would not only be fined but compelled to give security for their good behavior.

CZAR IS STILL ON THE MOVE

Austrians Attempt to Halt Muscovites in Their Rush

CAPTURE CZERNOWITZ

Russians Claim to Have Taken Over Two Hundred Thousand, Including 70 Officers

London, June 19.—With Czernowitz, capital of Bukowina, in their hands and some of the cavalry units already far past it to the north in flanking attacks on the retreating Austrians, the Russians have renewed the fury of their attacks in the region of Brody, opposite Lemberg,

If the drive in this region is successful the Russian line from the Lutsk region to the Roumanian border will be straightened out. A heavier resistance than that of Czernowitz is expected here, as the line can be radily re-enforced by means of the railroad from Lemberg

Furious fighting continues in the Kovel region, with the Russians slowly but steadily advancing despite the most stubborn resistance of the combined German and Austrian troops With Kovel and Lemberg taken the military critics predict a general retreat of the east front forces of the central powers.

London, June 19—Czernowitz, capital of the Austrian crownland of Bukowina, fell into the hands of the Russians Saturday evening, after one of the most furious battles of the war lasting more than a week.

"The enemy entered Czernowitz. We evacuated the town," reads the official admission of the Austro-Hungarian war office in its report'.

The fate of the city was sealed when the Russians stormed the bridge head on the left bank of the Pruth Saturday afternoon.

Petrograd announces officially that with the capture of the bridgehead more than 1,000 prisoners were taken adding that "guns were captured in Czernowitz, thur supporting the theory that the garrison escaped.

The Russian war office asserts that although the Teutons are "desperately resisting," and are making "furious counter attacks, Gen. Brusiloff's offensive continues without check. Apart from the capture of Czernowitz, however, Petrograd gives no specific data indicating any gain of further ground.

The statement says a violent battle is in progress on the Styr where thus far 2,070 prisoner including 70 officers, have been counted. Signs of an Austro-German counter-offensive on the Strypa, in the southeastern strip of Galicia proper, are contained in the Russian official statement that "north of Buczacz the enemy was repulsed."

A counter-blow dealt to Gen. Brusiloff's center in the region between Lutzk and Kovel, where progress for the Russians now is essential to secure the southern wing against a flank attack and subsequent developments, is reported by the German war office In this sector, Berlin asserts, 5,446 Russian soldiers and 11 officers were captured, as well as some cannon and 10 machine guns. This constitutes the most substantial success thus far attained by the Teutons in their efforts to stem the Muscovite tide.

Washingon Lady Found Benefits by Using The New Medicine.

Your friends are the first ones to notice a change in your condition, whether its better or worse. Such Mrs. A. L. Kellar, of 3314 Eighth street, northwest, Washington, D. C., soon found out. She says: "I have suffered for years, from stomach trouble and constipation, poor appetite and sluggish liver, I had a spell of grippe that pulled me down very much and I was looking pretty thin. I have now taken two bottles of Dreco and my friends all remark on how I have improved. Am gaining in flesh and strength daily. My appetite is fine and digeseion as well as ever; am free from constipation and my liver acts well. In fact, all my old troubles are relieved, and I feel that I should tell everyone of the splendid results I obtained from taking Dreco."

ALEXANDRIANS CALLED

Captain Conrad Johnson Receives Orders to Mobilize Light Infantry Immediately

Orders were received by telegram this morning by Captain Conrad Johnson from the headquarters of the first regiment of the Virginia militia at Staunton for the immediate mobilization of the Alexandria Light Infantry, officially known as Company G, First Regiment, Virginia Volunteers, and the recruiting of the company to the highest possible war strength. Captain Johnson is ordered to place his men under arms at the Armory and be ready to receive orders for departure for duty on the Mexican border.

The company is stationed at the armory and will be kept there for several days.

As soon as the organization totals one hundred men, the officers expect to leave with the company for Richmond, where the Virginia national guard will assemble. Recruiting officers will be left behind, however, and from this time on the armory will be open to receive enlistments of citizens. 50 recruits enlisted this morning.

A number of enlistments have been received at the armory from men residing in Alexandria and Fairfax counties and the officers of the company are asking for enlistments from anywhere in Alexandria or the vicinity. Reports indicate that the company will soon be recruited to full war strength. The officers want at least 140 men, including the number who are already members of the organization.

SPOKE ON MILLENNIUM

Evangelist R. E. Harter, of Washington, Delivers Address in Tent Last Night

"The Origin of Sin and the Plan of Salvation" will be the theme of Evangelist F. E. Gibson at the tent on north Washington street tonight. There will be a song service at 7:30 o'clock, and the address will be delivered at 8 o'clock.

A large congregation assembled last night to hear Evangelist R. E. Harter, of Washington, deliver a sermon on the "Millennium," The speaker handled his subject in an interesting and instructive manner. He explained that the word millennium comes from two Latin words (mille, one thousand, and annus, year making one thousand years) and that the Millennium would begin at the second coming of Christ, when the resurrection of the just would take place and the destruction of the living wicked and the binding of Satan. Continuing, he said that "the saints who are living on the earth when Christ comes with those who are resurrected when the Lord descends from heaven with a shout and with the voice of the archangel and the trump of God, will join each other in the air and then be taken to heaven. Satan is then bound to this earth during the one thousand years with his angels in its desolate condition. At the end of the one thousand years the New Jerusalem with all the saints will come down from God out of heaven to this earth. Then the wicked are resurrected and Satan is loosed out of prison, and he with all the wicked who are resurrected and his angels will encamp round about the beloved city with the saints, thinking they will gain the victory over them and take the city and again rule the world. Then fire comes down from God out of heaven and devours them. Then Satan and all his associates are destroyed. Thus ends all sin. During the thousand years the saints will be assisting in the work of judgment of the wicked."

Children's day services were held at Trinity Church yesterday morning and at the Second Presbyterian Church last night.

ALLEGED INFRACTIONS OF THE "BLUE LAWS."

Nearly one hundred persons were held yesterday and Saturday night to appear before the police court of Alexandria this morning to show cause why they should not be fined for continuing their respective occupations on Sunday in violation of the state law. The bulk of the charges will be dismissed, and in only two cases will it deemed necessary to impose fines and these were where the law had been openly violated and in which the accused made no attempts to deny the allegations against them.

The fact that throughout our commonwealth the people made no attempt to oppose the operation of this complete law is suggestive, and it shows that the people of the Old Dominion respect law and order no matter how questionable may be some of its provisions. It must be apparent to those who stop and think that to enforce in the letter and spirit some acts of the state as well as those of communities would be almost as impracticable as to insist upon observing the old curfew law which extinguished fires in our homes after ten o'clock at night.

The grandfathers of many now living were compelled in their younger days to go to as much trouble in traveling or conducting business as Abraham, Isaac and Jacob, and yet were not looked upon as necessary works at the close of the revolutionary war are essential in this age. When this drastic Sunday law was adopted by our forefathers there were no steamboats, railways, telegraphs or telephones. We might as well attempt to carry on the traffic of the world now by camels or elephants as to suppose that laws keeping everybody in one place on the Sunday of the week can be enforced. Certain provisions may be, but to shut down the lid upon everything in the way of business or pleasure is absurdity.

We believe the authorities have handled this matter honestly and conservatively, and those who may desire to invoke the ouster law will find but little to work upon in Virginia.

The Richmond Journal in this connection says:

"Our advice to the victims of the ouster law is to obey it under protest and start a campaign without loss of time for an amendment to fit, and toned in a bigger, broader spirit. The kind of legislation that puts a man in a sort of mental straitjacket in order to keep him "good" is not calculated to have lasting healthy effect. Freedom of action is a man's inalienable right, coupled with individual responsibility. When such freedom is carried to extremes, so that public sentiment is outraged, then is the time for a rational law to intervene and discipline the offender.

But to harass and annoy the community in a hundred petty ways is to engender a contempt for the law and to arouse a resentful, aggressive spirit that augurs ill for the common welfare. It is, perhaps, as well that the ouster law be rigorously enforced, so as to give an object lesson in how not to do it. That it will be contested and many violations of its provisions taken into court to test its application is certain. The ouster law, as first conceived, was not a bad measure. It was the extension of it to statutes as dead as the silver issue that has brought it into disrepute. We predict that it will not remain long in force.

The Richmond Times-Dispatch says:

Our sympathy goes out to those in official station throughout the Commonwealth of Virginia, who hereafter will be required, on pain of losing their jobs, to see to it that every criminal statute is obeyed and executed to the letter. They are likely to be made quite as unhappy as most of those they prosecute.

It remains to be seen how public sentiment here in Richmond will back the strict enforcement of this day.

If the Mayor and police undertake to enforce every law now on the statute books, without discrimination, they face more trouble than is involved in the attempt to enforce the Sunday observance law.

Raffles for a box of candy, or a Navajo blanket, or a doll with illuminated eyes are highly criminal. Gentlemen who are accustomed to decorate their conversation with fervid parts of speech are candidates for the calaboose. Mesmerists and hypnotists, and those who consent to be mesmerized or hypnotized, save by regularly practicing physicians, may spend a year in jail.

There is plenty of trouble ahead for the officers of the law, of which the enforcement of strict Sunday observance is only a part.

MILLIONS FOR ELECTIONS.

Fifty million dollars, at lowest estimate, will be sent in 1916 on our quadrennial political jag, according to the New York Herald. It may indeed, amount to a cool $100,000,000.

But a total expenditure of $50,000,000 means an expense of $3.50 per voter and 50 cents per capita for the entire population. It can be defended on the Tom Reed theory that this isa $50,000,000 country.

Laws of recent years enacted by Congress and most of the States requiring the filing of sworn statements of the origin and disposition of campaign funds have lately, for the first time in the history of the nation, made available fairly accurate data on the high cost of politics in this country.

Politics come highest in presidential election years, not only because of the large expenditures of the national committee, but because three-fourths of the 100,000 and more elective officers—national, State, county and municipal —are filed at or about the same time. Indeed, scarcely more than 5 per cent of the total cost of politics for the country as a whole this year will be borne by the big party committees.

Some 200,000 individuals are now, or soon will be, seeking offices in the United States. All will spend some money, and money will be spent by others for a great many of them. There will be several thousands 'campaign committees," of various kinds and quality.

The taxpayers directly will have to take care of the largest single item of expense, that for the election machinery. In New York alone the cost of registering the voters and conducting the November election will be about $2,500,000. For all the States it will amount to not less than $25,000,000.

The expenses of the national committees of the two big parties rarely fall below $2,000,000 and frequently go beyond $5,000,000 in a presidential year.

It is generally admitted that the Republican National Committee of 1896 under the leadership of Mark Hanna, first made "the room the limit" in spending money. The funds used to elect McKinley have been estimated at from $3,000,000 to $7,000,000. They probably were nearest the last figures. The fund employed to re-elect McKinley in 1900 was a "trifle below" $3,000,000.

The Republican National Committee usually disposes of the most funds, but some Democratic committees have been superb spenders. In 1892 not less than $2,000,000, perhaps a great deal more, was used in electing Cleveland, all of whose races were engineered by men who were adepts in raising and generous in contributing political funds.

There is no authoritative data on Democratic expenditures except for the campaigns of 1908 and 1912, when the expense of the committee approxmiated $1,000,000 for each year.

George B. Cortelyou, who was chairman, is authority for the statement that the Republican National Committee disposed of a little more than $2,000,000 to elect Roosevelt in 1904. The election of President Taft in 1908 cost nearly as much.

LETTER FROM LOUIS KRAFT.

Former Councilman Louis Krafft sends the following to a friend in this city with the request that it be published in the Gazette:

Kaiserslautern, in the 20th month of the war.

My dear friend:

About a month ago, I sent you the long promised stamps and providing the English pirates have not captured them on the high seas, I suppose they are now in your possession. Two checks sent to me from America since January first never arrived and I am satisfied they were stolen by the bloody English, but thank God the day of English supermacy at sea, which England is exercising to the detriment of the United States and Germany, will soon be over and the seas will be free for the world. It is incomprehensible to me that the Government of the United States is not willing to assist in this task and has not backbone enough to repel English arrogance on the high seas. From day to day, I have become more convinced of the success of the German arms in this fearful war, which nobody in Germany desired. Evidently it is not going to end as Sir Edward Grey supposed it would. The historical English game, to sow the seeds of discord among the nations of Europe and pocket all the profits without sacrificing anything herself, has not worked this time. England never was the friend of any state, but always the bitter and persistent enemy of any nation, that is in a position to compete with her in the markets of the world. She is not sacrificing much in this war and hopes to see Germany, France and Russia annihilated so as to maintain her supremacy at sea. At the beginning of this war England was certain that the central powers would be crushed between the Russian steam roller and the victorious French army and that she would then play the peacemaker and pocket the profits by taking possession of the entire German navy. For the so-called German militarism England never cared a straw. After twenty months of war, England's hopes and expectations have all miscarried; the campaigns of the Allies in Belgium, northern France, Poland, Servia, Montenegro and on the Dardanelles were miserable failures and all their hopes are shattered. The German armies are victorious, wherever they appear on field of battle, the German navy, is in tact, and the immense English navy is lying idle in a safe harbor, because it has not spunk enough to challenge the much smaller German navy to a fight, The bluster of an English commander to drive the German rats out of their holes has ceased long ago. Germany and her allies have every reason to be confident and are by no means desperate, as the Alexandria Gazette puts it, and the chances of her enemies to recover all the lost territory are very small, indeed and even if they did, Germany would not be conquered and the anti-bellum states would be re-established. The reports of English defeats on many battlefields have finally reached all her colonies, the lying English press nowithstanding and her prestige is shaken to its roots, and the fear of her enormous navy is disappearing from day to day. Where is her fleet? Has she ravaged the coast of Germany? Has she conquered the Dardanelles and Constantinople? The German submarine boats have paralyzed her fleet completely. England had far more at stake than her statesmen supposed at the beginning of this unprovoked war, else they would never have commenced it. Germany will certainly survive this war, which was forced upon her, and England will have to step down from her predominating position among the nations, because she never will be able to conquer German "militarism." The prediction of the English historian John Ruskin, that England would perish because she had cast away all of her ideals and because the slave of making money at any price is about to become true. I have talked enough about war now, and since I am always glad to hear from dear old Alexandria, I expect to hear from you soon and remain in old friendship. Your true and devoted.

NEWS OF THE DAY

As a sequel to rioting in Holland, resulting from a shortage of food, the Dutch frontiers will be closed next week and the export of foodstuffs prohibited until the supply reaches normal.

Six persons were killed and eleven injured in a fire which broke out yesterday morning in the Imperial Hotel, a well known commercial hotel of Liverpool, The upper floors of the buildings were destroyed.

Joseph 8 year old son of Harry Strock, was killed yesterday afternoon on the street near his home in Hagerstown, when he was struck by an automoonie owned and driven by John L. Leitshaw, Marion, Pa. The boy was playing and in attempting to jump on another automobile, was struck by Leitshaw's car. His skull was crushed. Leitshaw was arrested, but later was exonerated by a coroner's jury.

The Sinn Feiners and police came into contact yesterday in Westmoreland street, Dublin, when a procession of 3,000 members of the Sinn Fein after a celebration of mass for the repose of the souls of the volunteer leaders shot in the recent rioting, marched through the city with the colors known as the republican flag. The flag was carried by a woman, and a soldier who tried to seize it was roughly handled. Policemen then grasped the flag, but the Sinn Feiners wrested their standard from the police and marched back to Hibernian Hall with it and dispersed.

VIRGINIA NEWS

Following a quarrel in their room in Norfolk Saturday. Moses Gilliam, colored, last night stabbed his wife, Lillie Gilliam, to the heart with his pocket-knife, killing her almost instantly.

Mrs. M. H. Stieff, formerly of Roanoke, attempted suicide at her residence in Petersburg Saturday, by cutting her throat twice with a razor. She was found before she had bled to death. Ill-health is said to have been the cause.

At a meeting of citizens held Saturday at Orange, a country club, to be known as the Old Dominion Club, was organized.. A farm of over 100 acres between Orange and Rapidan has been purchased and a clubhouse will be built and golf courses and tennis courts laid out. Special attention will be paid to foxhunting and a sportsman weil known to the Virginia and Northern horse shows will give his direction to the management of the foxhunting.

Enthusiastically waving the Stars and Stripes above their heads, singing and whistling popular and national airs, including "Tipperary," 11,000 men and women, representing the cities of Norfolk, Portsmouth, and Newport News, united yesterday in a preparedness demonstration probably unequaled in the history of the South. The city was in holiday attire, and business was suspendd by merchants and industrial plants for the occasion. Practically every profession and trade and walk in life were represented. Fully 50,000 spectators crowded the line of march.

John P. Wilbourn, of Raphine, Rockbridge county, a traveling salesman for the American Tobacco Company, was killed yesterday morning when his automobile left the Valley turnpike, near Lacey Spring, Rockingham, on his return from Winchester. His neck was broken, skull crushed and collar bone fractured. Prof. Harry G. Canter, principal of Weyers Cave High School, who spends the summer in Harrisonburg, was badly injured. He was brought to Harrisonburg Hospital. Professor Canter was returning from West Virginia and joined Wilbour at Winchester.

Eugene Ritter, a justice of the peace of Frederick county, on Saturday afternoon was held in $2,000 bail for the grand jury of the Circuit Court, on a charge of shooting his wife, Mrs. Blanche Ritter, with a revolver. One bullet tore off the third finger of her right hand and another lodged in her right arm. The couple had a dispute at their home near Welitown, and Mrs. Ritter alleges that she was shot while attending to household duties. Ritter took her during the night to Martinsburg, W. Va., and had her placed in a hospital, where the bullet was removed from her arm. Mrs. Ritter testified that her husband threatened her if she said the shooting was anything more than an accident. She left him and came to the home of her mother, Mrs. Weakley in Winchester.

KILLS WIFE AND SELF.

Philadelphia, June 19,—Killing his wife with a single shot from a small home-made weapon of most unusual design, Robert Marris, 35, years old, then committed suicide, and the two bodies were found, late yesterday afternoon, on the kitchen floor in the home of the couple at No. 2809 Mutter street. According to the police, the shooting took place late Saturday night, following a drunken quarrel in which Marris fired at his wife, Annie 30 years old, after she had stabbed him about the face and neck. The man later fired a bullet into his brain, it is believed, when he became terror stricken at his act and failed in his efforts to revive the woman.

SWINDLERS GET $40,000

Bag Containing Petersburg Man's Money Vanishes

Petersburg, Va., June 19—A man will known in business circles in Petersburg and Hopewell, who has made considerable money in land deals in this vicinity, was the victim recently of sharpers in Philadelphia to the tune of $40,000 in ready cash. The story as told here is substantially as follows: Through a friend he met with several parties who had a big scheme on hand. They claimed to have a purchaser for the Curle's Neck Farm, on James River, the price of which was $1,500,000. The proposition was to secure an option on the farm by putting up $100,000 in cash, and then sell the option to the would-be purchaser for $300,000. The scheme was made very plausible. The parties were to put up $60,00 of the amount and their victim $40,000, and to share proportionately in their profits .It was arranged that they should mee in Philadelphia and close the deal.

Without questioning the good faith of his "friends," the man in question, with $40,000 in cash, drawn from bank, went to Philadelphia and met parties. He put up his money, and they put up their $60,000. Placing the entire amount in a satchel which was entrusted to the victim's care, the parties all went to the office of another man, from whom the option was to be secured. Arriving there, the satchel was placed on a table, and then for a few moments the victim was called into an adjoining room. When he returned for the satchel, it was gone, and no other explanation could be given of its disappearance than that it had been stolen. Then it dawned upon the man that he was the victim of a "get-rich quick" confidence game. He gave the men some trouble, knocking two of them down before he was restrained but it did no good. The money was gone.

BERLIN BLAMES MAYOR

Berlin, June 19—Press and people of Berlin are indignant with their Mayor, whom they blame for the increasing shortage of food and accuse of having stocked his own house with such articles of food as the population are clamoring for in vain.

The conservative Berliner Morgan Post says:

"The Mayor of Berlin appears to be blissfully ignored of the real situation here. It was he, we are told, who suggested the 'meatless' days, which was absolutely superfluous in view of the fact that it would be exceedingly difficult to find in all Berlin a single family that does not have to get along without meat at least four days a week. We have written before of the crowds that gather outside of the big stores. It is absolutely scandalous that after two years of warfare the municipal authorities have not put an end to this gathering of quarreling and fighting crowds. What a wonderful proof of our talent for organization."
